

TRYPICAL CUMBIA

(Dansk)

Trypical Cumbia fortolker Cumbia-genren, som har sin oprindelse i 1950'ernes Colombia, men idag er en udbredt genre i hele Latinamerika. Cumbia er for alle! Den er god til fest, den er sensuel, modsætningsfyldt og sprællevende.

Trypical Cumbia spiller et mix af nøje udvalgte sange og instrumental musik fra Colombia, Chile, Nicaragua, Peru og Brasilien samt egne kompositioner.

Hjertet i septetten er den stærkt swingende percussion-trio bestående af Alex Sharm Opazo (Chile), Oscar Pollo (Colombia) og Yannik "el Vikingo" Hartig (Danmark). Cristian Jara (guitar) og Michael Miño (bas), begge fra Chile, er de lidenskabelige og legesyge stemmer der fremmaner Cumbiaens rygrad og sjæl - imens de to blæsere i front, på klarinet Tine Vitkov (Danmark) og på tenor/sopran sax Jose Lezaeta (Chile) i et parløb af poesi, energi og galskab udtrykker Cumbiaens temperament og lunefulde humør.

(Engelsk)

Trypical Cumbia interprets the Cumbia genre - which has its origins in the 1950s Colombia, but today is a widespread genre throughout all of Latin America. Cumbia is for everyone! It is good for partying, it is sensual, contradictory and alive.

Trypical Cumbia plays a mix of carefully selected songs and instrumental music from Colombia, Chile, Nicaragua, Peru and Brazil and their own compositions as well.

The heart of the septet is the strong swinging percussion-trio of Alex Sharm Opazo (Chile), Oscar Pollo (Colombia) and Yannik "el Vikingo" Hartig (Denmark). Cristian Jara (guitar) and Michael Miño (bass), both from Chile, are the passionate and playful voices that evokes the backbone and soul of Cumbia - while the two winds in the front, on clarinet Tine Vitkov (Denmark) and on tenor/soprano sax Jose Lezaeta (Chile) in a duo of poetry, energy and madness express the temper and whimsical mood of Cumbia.

A trip from the deep of the Amazon up to the Andes mountains, down to the Caribbean coast and over the Atlantic ocean to the streets of Europe. Trypical Cumbia takes typical tunes from South-American folk music into an endless trip of joy and warm feelings.
